

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: What a nice area to shop in!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe taste and style in fashion through a wider range of language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can say and use words that end in -age.
- I can use proper intonation when I'm sure and when I'm checking.
- I can agree or disagree with so or neither.

Ask your partner:

- What different types of shopping areas are there in your city?
- Why are they different?
- What type of things do you go there for?

Let's Explore!

Sally and Vanessa are in the heritage area of Cambridge.

* You find "heritage" buildings in North American cities. These building are usually 100 or more years old.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Hey V? What's up?
Vanessa: Sally and I are shopping.
Peter: Is it a shopping day?
Vanessa: About average I think. We don't have many bags yet!
Peter: You don't?
Vanessa: No, but I think the advantage of bringing a friend is that you can carry more!
Peter: So do I. You and Sally are just getting started.
Vanessa: Uh huh. We're off to a vintage shop next. I don't think you're up to one of our shopathons.
Peter: Neither do I. I've been a bit tired this week.
Vanessa: So have I, but this is bringing my energy back. I don't want to cook tonight.
Peter: Neither will I.
Vanessa: You never want to cook. We'll want to eat out.
Peter: So will I!
Vanessa: Is that a hint? Are you asking to be invited to dinner out somewhere with us?
Peter: It worked, didn't it?
Vanessa: Oh, Peter!
Peter: Well, as leverage, I have some great outtake footage from our favorite sci-fi film. I got the package from the official site this morning - postage due. I don't think that's usual.
Vanessa: Neither do I! OK. How about you pick up some takeout and meet us at my place later?
Peter: Now that sounds like a plan!

Let's Practice!

Peter wants to know about Vanessa's shopping experience!

Instructions: Tick all the sentences in which the intonation should go up at the end. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- ☐ Is that a hint?
- ☐ Are you asking to be invited to have dinner out somewhere with us?
- ☐ How about you pick up some takeout and meet us at my place later?
- ☐ There's a Cambridge clothing shortage coming up, isn't there?
- ☐ Is it a big shopping day?

Let's Practice!

Peter isn't up for a shopathon!

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Underline the incorrect words. Write the words that correctly complete the sentences in the line following them. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Vanessa: I think the advantage of bringing a friend is that you can carry more!

Peter: So does it. You and Sally are just getting started. _____

Vanessa: I don't think you're up to one of our shopathons.

Peter: Does either I. I've been a bit tired this week. _____

Vanessa: So me has, but this is bringing my energy back. I won't want to cook tonight.

Peter: Will I either. _____

Vanessa: You never want to cook. We will want to eat out.

Peter: So I won't. _____

Extension Activity

Instructions: Click on the play button to listen to the audio.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Ask someone for information about what types of clothing they wear to school, work or at home.
- Write down 6 to 10 questions about the type of clothing they like and colors they wear.
- Ask the questions with the correct intonation.
- Respond to the answers with positive or negative agreement.
- Write the interview as a dialogue with the questions and answers.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about clothing.

☐ ☐

I ask for information using proper intonation.

☐ ☐

I use positive and negative agreement.

☐ ☐

I write a dialogue with the questions and answers from the interview.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- shortage (noun): not enough of an item
e.g. There's a Cambridge clothing shortage coming up!
- heritage (adjective): traditional; belonging to history e.g. We're downtown in heritage village.
- leverage (noun): influence
e.g. Well, as leverage, I have our favorite sci-fi film.
- postage (noun): what you pay to send a letter or package
e.g. I got the package from the official site this morning - postage due.
- do some serious damage (expression): to spend a lot of money
e.g. Yes, we're out here shopping, doing some serious damage.
- shopathon (noun): a marathon shopping trip
e.g. I don't think Peter is up to one of our shopathons.
- hint (noun): a statement that tells someone indirectly what you want them to know
e.g. Is that a hint meaning you want me to invite you to dinner?

Learning Points

Words Ending in the Suffix -Age

The suffix -age is used at the end of a word to show:

fee: as in *postage

state: as in *heritage

house : as in *cottage

total amount: as in *footage

Some of the oldest examples of words ending in -age came into English from French.

Examples:

damage, average, village, vintage, advantage

Others are English following the French model.

Examples:

postage, footage, leverage, shortage, heritage

You pronounce the suffix -age as "ij"

Practice saying these words out loud:

damage (damij)

postage (postij)

footage (footij)

Examples:

- Well, as leverage, I have some great outtake footage from our favorite sci-fi film. I got the package from the official site this morning - postage due.
- We're in heritage village.

Learning Points

Intonation: When You Are Sure vs When You Are Checking

You use a falling tone to signal that you believe what you have said is correct.

You use a rising tone when you are checking, because you are not sure if you are correct.

These two sentences are the same, but they have slightly different meanings as they are said differently, depending on the speaker's intention.

Try reading them out loud. Put falling intonation at the end of the first one. Put rising intonation at the end of the second one.

1. It worked, didn't it? ↘

I'm sure it worked. I know it worked.

2. It worked, didn't it? ↗

I'm not sure if it worked. I'm checking if I'm right.

Try saying this sentence with both rising and falling intonation:

There's a Cambridge clothing shortage coming up, isn't there?

Falling Intonation	Meaning
There's a Cambridge clothing shortage coming up, isn't there?	I believe there will be shortage of clothing after you shop.
You and Sally are just getting started.	I know you shop a lot.
You never want to cook.	I know you don't like to cook.
It worked, didn't it?	I know it would work.
Rising Intonation	Meaning
At the mall?	I'm not sure where you are.
Is it a big shopping day?	I think it could be an average shopping day.
You don't?	Thought you would.
Is that a hint?	I am not sure if it's a hint.
Are you asking to be invited to have dinner out somewhere with us?	I am not sure if you are asking me for an invitation.

